

Chris Fisher is president of Associated Builders and Contractors (ABC) of Michigan, a statewide trade association representing construction firms specializing in the commercial and industrial sectors that employ 25,000 skilled Michigan workers.

Under his leadership ABC of Michigan has grown industry programs, launched the Michigan Construction Job Center, passed the Michigan Fair and Open Competition in Governmental Construction Act and continues to lead prominent construction industry legislative and workforce development efforts. In 2013 ABC of Michigan was named the “most effective” construction association in the Michigan Information Research Service (MIRS) annual survey of capitol insiders.

A graduate of Hillsdale College, Chris previously was Director of Operations and Marketing at the Foundation for Economic Education and worked in the Michigan Legislature. Before being named president of ABC of Michigan, Chris was the Regional Manager for ABC National, working with contractors in Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio.
